Explain the history of Llyn y Fan Fach describing where the lake is. Llyn y Fan Fach is a 10 hectare lake on the western side of the Brecon Beacons. The lake itself is overlooked by the mountain peaks of Picws Du and Waun Lefrith. The northern face of Waun Lefrith was home to a glacier during the Ice Ages which gouged out the corrie (or cwm) in which Llyn y Fan Fach now sits. Describe using the PowerPoint how a corrie lake is formed over time. Activity one Describe how a corrie lake is created Activity two Draw and label a corrie. Pupils should use all of the keywords in their diagram and make sure that their earlier description includes meanings of all keywords. More able pupils (or classes) should use worksheet ‘draw and label the formation of a corrie’ and should draw and label the formation at the beginning of the last Ice Age, during the Ice Age and after the Ice Age. After pupils have completed their tables, they should close their workbooks. Pupils should then match up keywords and meanings on the attached worksheet from memory. If short on time this can be completed as a class activity through the PowerPoint.			10 mins 10 mins 15-20 mins 10 mins
Plenary: Conclude by discussing whether pupils know of any other corrie lakes.
Extension work: Pupils could look on the internet to find other examples of corries and tarns.
Differentiation: ALN pupils can use the attached worksheet when labelling and drawing a corrie.
MAT pupils should complete the ‘draw and label the formation of a corrie worksheet’
Assessment: Through classroom questioning and through marking of classwork.
Resources:
PowerPoint, match the keywords worksheet, label a corrie worksheet, draw and label the formation of a corrie worksheet.
